“ One of my last visits to see Aunt Margie was a later at night phone call to her (about 9 pm) back about 2010 while out traveling on my motorcycle when I was pushing to get back home but once reaching Austin, MN just found it getting too cold and windy to try and make it the rest of the way back so I reached out to her to see if she had an extra bed for a bad biker dude. Aunt Margie welcomed me in and then we stayed up until around 1:30 am talking, laughing along with sharing tears (happy and sad ones). She always did like to “tease” complain about things with that little smile showing up in the end). We all slept in a little The next morning then was awakened with the smell of breakfast being cooked for us. It is a memory I will never forget!

Love you always!

“ I always enjoyed my vacations with Aunt Margie. When she lived on the acreage we would visit Margaret (LeeAnne's grandma), then Vera, then Freda. Always visited with Dianna (beef stew day). Man, could she cook. Many other good memories. That is what we have after they are gone. Talk about her, remember her. It helps get through the grief and keeps her with us. She is the one person Dad wanted & needed when Mother started her decline. She comforted him; therefore, comforted us kids. Think of her often & be comforted. Love to Glen, Wendy & Lori from Lorraine (Wilkerson) Hickey.
