

Natalie Rose Swanson

January 8, 2019

Natalie Rose (White) Swanson passed away on January 8, 2019. She passed away at the age of 42 and was considered a caring and loving soul that drew people to her personal circle of friends. There are some who considered her much more than a friend - more like a family member. She could almost always be counted on to have a warm welcome for those who came to her door, an offer of a warm meal, and friendly banter that was easily enjoyed by all. Her sense of humor could light up even the darkest of caves, and a smile to any face.

She was a loving sister, friend, and daughter who was more than happy to do for others more so than she did for herself. She always made sure those who were lucky enough to be in her social circle knew what was on her mind - good or bad - and that she would be there to help them if they needed it. Rarely one to ask for help from others, Natalie was extremely independent and headstrong, sometimes to a fault. Known by many to be the strongest woman they've ever known.

Natalie leaves behind many friends, family, and loved one who will deeply miss her colorful personality.

“ My life with Nat was rocky as we were often played against each other, but in the last five years all of that animosity and mistrust melted away. I got to see the Natalie everyone else got to see. She was funny, loving, and cared about people far more than some deserved. She gave her time, attention, and sometimes money to those who needed it. Whether she was just someone to joke around with or the only person who would listen to your problems, she was there.

If there was ever something I will regret, it will be not being able to see that part of her more. I'm sure she'd give me a swift kick in the behind parts for thinking it, it still upsets me every day that my time seeing that was so short.

Even now, I wait for her to walk down the hall to my room with her goofy grin, or toddler into the house laden with bags shouting “Things n' Stuff!”. It's hard and painful to know I will never hear that again except in my memories, but they will be some of the ones that remind me always that she was here.

I miss you, kiddo. Every single day. I love you.

“ If it wasn't for Natalie I wouldn't have my service dog Patches. She was his first mommy and she saw that my depression was getting worse after putting my cat to sleep so she gave me patches and I thank God everyday that she was such a wonderful person and thoughtful friend for doing that because my life wouldn't be the same without patches in my life! I'm going to miss you Natalie but we will see each other again in the afterlife. RIP Natalie Rose White Swanson

“ Natalie and I used to just go for rides and dream about if we won millions what would we do we would drum up some crazy things. We laughed and a great old time. She's going to be totally missed by money people. I was so happy to be her mom. She was my rock I love and miss you.
